

Life is Sweet. "Oh, life is sweet," said a merry child, "And I love, I love to roam In the meadows green, 'neath the sky serene— Oh, the world is a fairy home. There are trees hung thick with blossoms fair, And flowers gay and bright; There's the moon's clear ray, and the sunlit day Oh, the world is a world of light!"

"Oh life is sweet," said a gallant youth, As he pondered on the days by gone, And the fame of a former age. There was hope in his bright and beaming eye, And he longed for riper years; He clung to life, he doted its strife, He felt no dread nor fears.

"Oh, life is sweet came merrily From the lips of a fair young bride; And a happy smile she gave the while To the dear one by her side. "Oh, life is sweet, for we shall live Our constancy to prove; Thy arrows mine, my trial thine, Our solace in our love."

"Oh, life is sweet," said a mother fond, As she gazed on her helpless child; And she closer pressed to her gladdened breast Her babe, who, unconscious, smiled. "My life shall be for thee, my child, Pure, guileless as thou art; And who shall dare my soul to tear From the tie that forms a part?"

"Oh, life is sweet," said an aged sire, Whose eyes were sunk and dim; His form was bent, his strength was spent— Could life be sweet to him? Oh, yes, for round the old man's chair His children's children clung; And each dear face, and kind embrace, Made life seem ever young.

Thus life is sweet, from early youth To weak, enfeebled age; Love twines with life through care and strife, In every varied stage. Though rough, perchance, the path we tread, And dark the sky above, In every state there's something yet To live for and to love.

A REVOLUTION IN HAIR.—The comb is henceforth an obsolete article in fashionable circles, says a London letter, and ladies are reverting to the Lady Godiva style of wearing the hair—that is, letting it flow down over the shoulders. Little girls having abandoned the once popular net, now have their hair crimped and then allowed to float loosely down their back. When the hair is of a light auburn or golden hue, it has a pretty effect, reminding one of early English maidens with names like Maude and Mary, who used to live in the days of the Round Table. Older girls, and young and even middle aged ladies, have, however, made a compromise in the matter which is perfectly frightful. The hair is ruffled up so as stand out on the head as if it had not been combed for a week, and then the back hair, also carefully ruffled, is loosely fastened up by a comb. The head is then considered arranged for the opera or ball room.

THE GENEALOGY OF REPUBLICANISM.—Garrison's Liberator began the New York Tribune; and the New York Tribune began the Irrepressible Conflict; and the Irrepressible Conflict began the Helper Book, began the raid of John Brown; and the raid of John Brown began the Chicago Platform and the Chicago Platform began the Republican party; but to say what the Republican party began "will not be tolerated in this Department," and therefore we don't say it.—Logan (O.) Gazette.

Secretary Stanton said the other day—"If a single regiment of Lee's army gets back into Virginia, in an organized condition, it will prove that I am totally unfit to be Secretary of War." Amen!—Springfield Republican.
